dedication

We, the annual staff, gratefully dedicate the 1958 RAM to Mrs. Wilna Alexander, who has toiled diligently in her official capacity as teacher, and served as a friend as well as an adviser. We recognize and appreciate her untiring efforts to better the school, her understanding and patience with the students, and her able guidance of the Student Council.

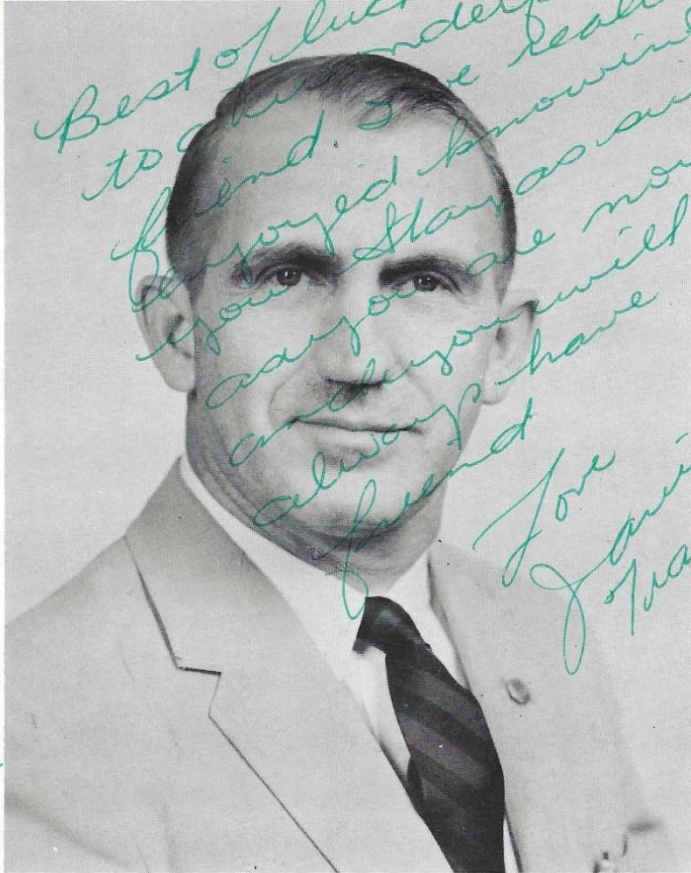

We honor her whom we will forever love.

To a wonderful person and job, I wish the best of luck in every thing. Your friend

Students are still a... are the individ... realize that... is not the only one who would like to be served, this problem will persist. Such thoughtlessness on the part of a single student detracts from our school.

Mrs. Alexander, council sponsor, stresses the importance of being a good and loyal Student Council member. Council members should be liaisons between the council itself and the student body. Members should report to their individual homeroom after each council meeting, informing the student body of the recent business.

Forensic League is one of the most active such chapters in Davidson County. Under the leadership of president Danye Sue Broadway, vice-president Bob Myers, and secretary-treasurer Beverly Sarver, this group ably represents Madison in all forensic competition. NFL membership is based on points gained by members in inter-school speaking meets. Degrees of membership ratings, in increasing order, are distinction, excellence, and honor.

All NFL members at Madison are members of the Forensic Club which serves as a proving ground for beginning orators. Forensic Club officers are: president, Bob Myers; vice-president, Edward Brown; and secretary, Virginia Gill. Both groups are co-sponsored by Miss June Kennedy and Miss Jane Wright.

NFL members at Madison are: Danye Sue Broadway, Bob Myers, John Pickett, Beverly Sarver, Pat Williams, Ruby Adcock, Ray Cammuse, Buddy Smiley, Peggy Williams, Virginia Gill, Felice Witzum, Larry Perry, Edward Brown, Elvis Williamson, Jennie Sue Gustin, Joan Ives, Elaine Coleman, Karl Frederick, Ann E'len Pigue, Joseph Witzum, Ronnie Brown, Steve North, Gayle Denny, and Bruce McBratney.

Madison teachers expressed themselves as deriving much benefit from the day's discussions. It is believed that the students also profited from their day of respite.

Peabody Performers Well Received

Musical talent from George Peabody College, Nashville, presented a program of rock and roll music at a special assembly, Feb. 5.

Miss Willma McCrary, Peabody student and Madison resident, served as mistress of ceremony for the group, which gave a creditable performance and was well received.

"The Ram" Nears Completion

"The Ram", Madison High yearbook, is well on its way to completion. Steady progress has been made in its compilation since school began early last autumn.

Jackie Linneman, co-editor of "The Ram", has officially announced that Ambrose Printing Company, Nashville, has been awarded this year's printing contract. Representatives from the publishing firm are acting in an advisory capacity in assisting the staff in producing the best yearbook Madison High School has ever had. Arrival time is tentatively set for May.

ram-page has local, national recognition

The Ram-Page, Madison High School Newspaper, again this year has received a first-place rating in the Columbia University Scholastic Press Association contest. This C. S. P. A. contest marks Madison's third entry and third consecutive win in national journalistic competition.

In 1957 the Ram-Page was awarded the first-place trophy in the Nashville Banner "Better Paper" contest for Tennessee High School newspapers.

The Ram-Page, now in its fifth year of existence, issued its first printed paper in May, 1955. Prior to that time it has been a mimeographed and dittoed publication.

The National Forensic League is an honorary organization for students interested in speech who also have high standards of scholarship, leadership, service, and character.

To be considered for membership a student must have earned 25 forensic points, have at least a B average, be recommended by the sponsors and Mr. DePriest, and be elected by the chapter.

A member earns advanced degrees as his points increase from Merit (25), to Honor (75), to Excellence (150), to Distinction (250), which carries with it an automatic scholarship.

By membership in the N. F. L., a student becomes eligible to compete in the National Tournament. Madison is sending Beverly Sarver as a contestant in the Nationals this year.

girls varsity basketball

The Ramettes, who virtually came from "RAGS to RICHES," enjoyed their most successful season, winning 16, losing only 3, and finishing second in the N. I. L. The team was honored by having Senior forward Robbie Hudson and Junior guard Evelyn McCrary named on the "All-City" team.

Buford, Mrs. Washie Jones, Mrs. Thelma Webb, Mrs. Elizabeth Hunter, Mrs. Nancy Chapman, John Helton. Absent: Mrs. Carrie Chambers.

MRS. LURLINE DUBOIS

These ladies serve us the best lunches, in the best cafeteria that can be found anywhere. They are always on the job giving that "extra touch" to the food prepared for us, which makes it even better. They constantly go beyond "the line of duty" to please us. We are very grateful to them.

Mr. DePriest

will and prophecy of the senior class

To the faculty we leave all our worn-down pencils, chewed finger nails, and handfuls of hair torn out in desperation as evidence of the state of exhaustion and hysteria to which they have reduced us.

To the Freshmen, who are so sure of their own superior knowledge, we leave the sincere hope that they can get the faculty under better control than we were able to manage.

To the Sophomores we have a wish for a happy summer vacation, realizing that they don't know what the next two years have in store for them.

To the Juniors we leave the cares and responsibilities of the senior year, wishing them the best of luck with the weighty problems of student council, annual, and programs, not to mention such simple things as grades and class work.

I, Ruby Adcock, leave all the fun I've had in high school to Marjorie Scruggs.

I, Michael Angela, leave my red hair to David Wilson.

I, Doris Floyd, leave my quiet manner to Brenda Drake.

Ruby is now busy collecting rent from her tenants in Ruby's Rambling Ranch-Style Homes constructed by Anglea's Prefabricated Homes Inc., and decorated by Doris Floyd in flaming fushia and cankered green.

I, Nan Allen, leave my position as secretary-treasurer of the Student Council to some lucky junior.

Poor girl, she never achieved her ambition. She married an old bachelor, and they are now running their own Lonely Hearts Club for Confirmed Old Maids and Bachelors.

I, Linda Allison, leave my office job to Emmaly Martin.

I, Wayne Reagan, leave to spend more time at Uncle Bill's.

Linda now spends her time working with her handsome boss, Wayne Reagan, at his Reagan's Rinse Rite—Red and Brite Hair Coloring Company, Inc.

I, Jerald Baker, leave my place in lunch line to Maurice Sanders.

I, Walter Coleman, leave my many girl friends to Steve North.

I, Travis Wright, leave my back seat in Sociology class to Bobby Jackson.

Have you seen Walter's new movie, "Went With The Breeze" produced by Jerald Baker and directed by Travis Wright?

I, Marvin Baker, leave—how did this happen?

I, Harold Maddux, leave my handsome face to any sophomore who needs it to pass.

I, Larry Paris, leave—still trying to shift gears on my car.

I, Charles Woodall, leave as I came—unattached.

Now Marvin's fleet of orange and white cabs have made a very profitable service and his cabbies have won the Safety First Award for the past 10 years. They are Harold Maddux, Larry Paris, and Charles Woodall.

I, Phyllis Bates, leave my tanned complexion to someone without a sunlamp.

I, Jolane Smith, leave my seat in Mr. Delosh's English class to Janis Miller.

I, Sara Staub, leave my talking method to Patricia Hitt.

I, James Waller, leave—tough luck, girls.

It seems movie star Jimmy "Lover Boy" Waller and his leading lady Jolane Smith were mobbed by a throng of admirers led by Phyllis Bates and Sara Staub.

I, William Belt, leave my romantic technique to all the bashful boys.

I, Ronald Dillon, bequeath my address book to Bill Robinson.

Ronnie had a football team okay; the only thing wrong—all girls! Coached by Billy Belt, it has won the NIL championship for three years.

I, John Blair, leave still trying to find out why everyone goes to the drive-in.

He has replaced Sir John Beresford Tipton on "The Millionaire," but due to certain circumstances the name of the show had to be changed to "The Tightwad."

I, Claire Boner, leave my bopping ability to my younger sister.

I, Dan Gibson, leave my uncanny ability to skip school to Ronnie Luck.

I, Don Gibson, leave my beat-up Spanish book.

I, Janice Poe, leave my giggle to Pat Thomason who has one of her own.

Claire is the supervisor of Janice Poe's School of the Dance. Her favorite pupils are Dan and Don Gibson because they are so light on her feet.

I, Virginia Boner, leave—still hoping to grow taller. She never grew taller, but has successfully solved the problem with ten-inch heels.

I, June Boyd, leave my long, long fingernails to Joyce Shelton.

I, Peggy Northcutt, leave to become a secretary. While inventing her potion for the Never Break-Crack-or-Peel Fingernail Polish, June experimented on Peggy Northcutt, who has finally let her fingernails grow to 1/32 of an inch long.

I, Danye Sue Broadway, leave my unspellable name to Juliette Blexrud. She found out the secret of the Sputnik, but it didn't do her any good for she had already invented her superior "Broadway Whatnik."

I, Ronnie Brown, leave my Nickname "Antelope" to Richard Boughner. Have you tried the new "cantamelon" developed by famous botanist Ronnie Brown?

I, Tom Buchanan, leave after staying home on test days as much as possible. The new green and white polka-dotted chlorophyll toothpaste perfected by Tom is a boon to children—they only have to brush their teeth once a year.

I, Jerry Bucy, leave my seat on the football squad to anybody who wants it.

I, Wendell Cline, leave having never voiced my opinion.

I, Ronald Morris, leave wondering what comes next.

I, Bobby Smith, leave to keep company with Uncle Sam. We saw highway patrolman Jerry Bucy in his helicopter trying to unsnarl the traffic jam created by Wendell Cline, Ronnie Morris, and Bobby Smith.

I, Joan Burton, leave still keeping Larry guessing where I am and whom I'm with.

I, Rose Green, leave my lady-like ways to Judy Burton.

I, Linda Greene, leave my shorthand speed to someone with a faster pencil. Rose and Linda have incorporated into Green & Greene's Greenery where flowers were bought for the recent wedding and reception of Joan Burton.

I, Janie Caldwell, leave for various reasons—none of which I can think of at the moment.

I, Sandra Richardson, leave my naturally curly hair to Joyce Murphy. Janie and Sandra have perfected a new type of bowling alley—the kind without gutters.

I, Cayle Callis, leave my innocent look to Pat Condra.

I, Frances Cooley, leave my musical ability to Rose Dodd.

I, Buddy Cox, leave my bass voice to Murry Moore.

I, Cecil Hannah, leave my orange jacket to anyone who can take it away from me.

I, Billy Kirby, leave and it doesn't bother me a bit. Cecil Hannah and his "Hot Shot Four Minus One", Cooley, Callis, and Cox, are now appearing on T.V. with that famous comedian Billy Kirby.

I, Ray Cammuse, leave for the White House. Tune in T. V. tonight and see Ray, now Mayor of Nashville, make a 15-minute speech from 9:00 to 12:00 on channel 58.

I, Mike Capsheew, leave to follow in Pat's footsteps.

I, Larry Carter, leave my position on the basketball team to John Smith. Mike and Larry now manage their own Carter's and Capsheew's Crippled Cricket Convalescing Center.

I, Nancy Castleman, leave—still giggling. Fort Campbell isn't any closer to Madison, but Nancy solved the problem. She is now the first lady paratrooper.

I, Janet Clark, leave after dreaming for four years of this moment.

I, Jean Horton, leave to take up housekeeping. Janet and Jean have collaborated on a book entitled "How to be Happy, Though Married."

I, Shirley Cole, leave to establish my M.R.S. degree with school interferring.

I, Virginia Ligon, leave the privilege of having my husband sign my excuse to Sarah Brawner. Shirley and Virginia are den mothers with den no. 169840½. Their latest project is teaching old ladies how to help boy scouts across the street.

I, William Conner, leave my ability to pester girls to James Gilmore. We see William has become chief round-maker at the local drive-in. He makes the rounds of all the cars telling the couples the movie is over.

I, Billy Darks, leave still laughing about the way I got out.

I, Aaron Johnson, leave happily after five years instead of my expected six. Billy is a heavy-weight wrestler weighing in at 91 pounds. He's opening at the Hippadrome tonight against his opponent Aaron "Georgeous George" Johnson.

I, Peggy Davis, leave and "boy, am I tired!"

I, Danny Harris, leave my good personality to all the freshmen. Peggy is a waitress at the local cafe known as Danny's Dim-Lit Diner, owned and operated by Danny Harris.

I, Johnny Denney, leave my ability to attract girls to anyone who wants it, cause it wasn't of much help to me. Have you ever been driving down the street and had your fender scraped by an unseen assailant—that was Johnny.

I, James Denson, leave my file of excuses for missing school to Steve Brady. He's living it up all right. He's the Professor of Anatomy at Bryn Mawr.

I, Larry Dibrell, leave my ability to talk my way out of trouble to Jimmy Graves.

I, Jeanette Ellison, leave my oven in home ec. to Melba. After Mr. DePriest retired as principal of Madison, Larry took over. Some of the teachers at Madison High are Jeanette Ellison, Judy Fox, and Anita Ragsdale, who are now having to deal with some of the antics with which they used to torment their own teachers.

I, Bridges Dillehay, leave to paint elsewhere. He is now a famous commercial artist; He's the one that blacks out the squares in cross-word puzzles.

I, Sandra Dunkleberger, leave with stars in my eyes. Have you tried Dunkie's Dunk-Rite Doughnuts? Guaranteed not to crumble and sink to the bottom of the coffee cup.

I, David Dunlap, leave my ability to ask dumb questions to Albert Griffin.

I, Jackie Dunn, leave almost as quietly as I came. Do you like your nose? If not Dr. Dunlap can fix it. He has a very efficient nurse, Jackie Dunn.

I, Sparky Edgin, leave and I know all the girls will miss me.

I, Pat Pendergrass, leave with my chief interests elsewhere. They said there would never be a lady president, but Pat has become the nearest thing to it—Vice President, under President Sparky Edgin.

I, Jimmy Emery, leave my locker, which I never got to use. No more worrying about nightly shoe polishings. Buy Jimmy's Scuff-Not Shoe Wax in the plastic squeeze bottle.

I, Peggy Finn, leave my used chewing gum to Betty Buntley, if she can scrape it off the bottom of my old desk. She has become richer than Barbara Hutton from her gum with the built-in sound effects.

I, Patricia French, leave to be with Robbie. She has made Robbie very happy. He became the proud father of quadruplets a few weeks ago.

I, Eddie Garrett, leave Brenda heartbroken.

I, Larry Woosley, leave to sleep elsewhere. Eddie and Larry have incorporated into a drug-store business. Eddie makes you sick and Larry makes you sicker.

I, Tommy Gober, leave tired after walking these halls for four years.

I, Marvin Drake, leave for a long, long rest.

I, Jerry Harlan, leave as I rarely came anyway. Jerry Harlan's filling station is doing a thriving business with Marvin as head mechanic, and Tommy as chief windshield washer.

I, Quinnie Harper, leave my little brother Dale—who needs him?

I, Janice Jackson, leave wishing I wasn't so beautiful and had more brains. Quinnie is the owner of Harper's Bazaar Magazine which employs the Powers' model, Janice Jackson.

I, Billy Holley, leave still asking questions.

I, Charles Tash, bequeath to Rabbit Dale my ability to make a joke out of nothing. The newest bridge in Nashville is an architects' dream. It was built by Holley & Tash Co.

I, Robbie Hudson, leave my basketball ability to Evelyn McCrary.

I, Freddie Johnson, leave my position as Madison's Great Lover to Chuck Lewis. I saw Freddie today with his private secretary Robbie Hudson in one of his seven cadillacs, bought with the money made from Johnson's Junky Junk Yard.

I, Joan Ives, leave my bangs to anyone with sharp scissors. Mr. Jenkins' pet peeve—Joan, is now teaching physics at Harvard.

I, Jimmy Jernigan, leave my monkey shines to Bill Bailey. I went to Old Hickory this afternoon and saw Jimmy win the drag races with a speed of 3 miles per hour. The other cars forgot to enter the race.

I, Jackie Linneman, leave my cover girl complexion to Hilda Raby.

I, Tommy Page, leave my back seats at all the ball games to anyone who likes to sit on the top row. Tommy has entered the profession of dentistry and has invented something for the girl who has everything—pastel colored false teeth to match the fashions created by "Mademoiselle Jacquelyn."

I, Leon Locke, leave to start my own radio station.

I, Bob Myers, leave—taking my debate case with me.

I, Buddy Smiley, leave my messy locker to Joyce Johnson. Leon now operates the local radio station You-No, on which you'll hear disc jockey Smelly Smiley, and chief announcer Miraculous Myers.

I, Janice Mayernick, leave but not without Quinnie. She has developed a new hair-spray; it is made with concrete. Spray once and you don't need to comb your hair for a month.

I, James McIntosh, leave my glasses, although, I can't see without them. Mr. Peepers newest competitor is James in the new television series "Mr. Jeepers."

I, Judy Menees, leave my naturally blond hair to Ruthy Gaines. The latest cosmetic on the market is Menees' Miraculous Mole-Remover.

I, Linda Miller, leave my beat-up baton to Brenda Turner to protect Leon from the girls.

I, Edna Ross, leave my loves in the past to Frankie Crump.

I, Beverly Sherman, leave my well-used emery board to Judy Rebello.

I, Charles Wakefield, leave my position as drum major to anyone who already has flat feet. Linda, Edna, and Beverly are still strutting as well as they did in high school to the marches of Charles Wakefield and His High Steppers.

I, Joyce Moomaw, leave my long, black hair and squigly eyelashes to Martha Anderson. Girls—no longer do you have to long for those long, long eye lashes. Joyce has become world-famous for the magic cream she has invented, which grows inch long eyelashes over night.

I, Betty Jo Mundy, leave my editorship of the Ram-Page to some innocent bystander. Betty is still a soda jerk, but her main interests center around the parsonage.

I, Jimmy Owens, leave my ability to sleep through all my classes to Ralph Barrett. Most people work their way through college, but Jimmy insists on sleeping his way through.

I, John Pickett, leave my ability to figure out the CHALLENGE TO YOU problems in solid geometry to Burton Whited. We got a penny postcard from John today via Mars—"Having a wonderful time. Wish you were here."

I, Robert Reagan, leave my sweet memories with Wayne. Roberta finally saw Wayne graduate and now they have their own hillbilly band.

I, Kathy Robert, leave my big, brown eyes to Scarlett Baker.

I, Ann Williams, leave my soft voice and quiet manner to Judy Dunlap. Kethy now owns Rohtert's Realty Company. She recently sold her new Floatable, Roadable home which you can either float or drive, to the former Ann Williams.

I, Peggye Russell, leave my cymbals to someone with strong ear-drums. She is now operating her automatic cymbal player in the Boston Philharmonic Orchestra.

I, Beverly Sarver, leave my ability to drive Miss Wright out of her mind to Larry Perry. All the movie stars now go to her to be psychoanalyzed. Her motto is "You crack 'em up—I fix them."

I, Shirley Scott, leave my seat in Mr. Blevins first period English class to Myra Hill. She became the first licensed lady-barber in Madison. She now runs Scott's Shave-Right Salon.

I, Mary Tittle, leave to change my name. She is now married and has the cutest little bunch of Tittley-Winks you ever saw.

I, Glenda Vandercook, leave my beat-up basketball—unwillingly. She was just about out the back door of college when someone stopped her and now she is playing center on the basketball team.

I, Mary Ann Vester, leave my good nature to Peggy Williams. She is the head instructoress at the Acme Driving School, although she has never learned to drive a car herself.

I, Pat Williams, leave my height to Ann Pearson. She has achieved her ambition and is a sociologist. Her book "Turn Your Neighborhood Into A Slum in 12 Easy Lessons" is a bestseller.

I, Linn Wilson, leave—no tears, please girls. He has bought so many engagement rings, that he has gone into business for himself to cut out the middle man.

I, Hugh Wingett, leave my old, worn out locker to Jane Gardner.

I, Jere Wilkinson, leave at the nearest exit. Hugh runs the Build-a-Better-Body Health Club, where Jere Wilkinson is his best customer.
